Chapter II
WILLIAM WARD FAMILY

SECTION I
WILLIAM WARD

(2) William Ward was born in Milton, Suffolk, England, November 10, 1842, the son of George Welton and Ann Trulock Ward. His early childhood was spent in England. In 1850, they were baptized into the Mormon church. At this time his parents were managers of a mill and were doing well financially. They emigrated to the United States in a little sailing vessel called the "Ellen Maria" and spent twelve weeks crossing the Atlantic Ocean.

They landed in New Orleans about May 23, 1851. After landing they sailed up the Missouri River to Council Bluffs, Iowa. In May 1852 they emigrated to Great Salt Lake Valley and arrived there on October 9. They were called to settle in North Ogden in the years 1852-53, and in the spring they moved to North Willard.

Here he attended school during the winter months and aided his father in farming and stock-raising. He was the eldest of a large family, and he learned to shoulder responsibility early in life. His father was a good manager and always kept his boys busy. At the age of 18, his mother died, leaving seven sons and one daughter who needed her care and influence.

Rachel Cordon was born January 24, 1844, in Iowa. She walked most of the way across the plains when she was seven years old. She resided with her parents in American Fork until they were called by President Brigham Young to Salt Lake.

They moved from Salt Lake to Brigham and later moved to Willard. She married William Ward July 24, 1861; they were married by Alfred Cordon.

They first lived in a one room log house on his father's land. They cooked and ate at his father's, where his wife helped his stepmother with the housework. Their first child, George Alfred, was born April 17, 1862. A second son, born September 26, 1863, lived but a short time. He died October 16, 1863, of erysipelas.

About this time they moved to Bloomington, Idaho, in Bear Lake Valley. The first winter they lived with another couple who went with them. The next summer they built another log house. Their first daughter, Emma Ann Ward Woodland, was born March 16, 1865.

The next spring he went to Willard to get some wheat he had there. His father persuaded him to bring his family back to Willard and make his home. He bought an acre and a quarter of land for an oxen and a log chain. Here he built a log house, stables, sheds, etc. On January 30, 1867, his son Richard Welton was born and Orville Henry on July 23, 1868.

He bought a farm at South Willard and some more land at Willard. He was beginning to supply a few comforts for his family. His fifth son Edward Alonzo was born June 5, 1870, and two years later Albert Trulock was born.

He was called on a mission to Malad, Idaho, March 10, 1876. Soon after this his seventh son Levi Cordon was born. In his labors with the Indians at Washakie, he not only taught them the Gospel, but plowed the land and sowed some of the first wheat raised there. He went with them to the canyon, cut logs, and showed them how to build their homes.

They learned readily enough, but it was a task to keep them at work. They were not used to it.

He was untiring in his labors and worked in all kinds of weather. He caught cold and had pneumonia in the spring of 1876. He was very ill and when he was able to be moved, they brought him home to his wife.

He went to Salt Lake City to get the best medical advice, but was not given much hope of recovery. He never gained any strength after that.

He was a member of the first dramatic company in Willard and was also a member of the band and of the choir and as a Sunday School Teacher. They received their endowments in the Salt Lake Temple.

He died on September 16, 1876, when he was 34 years old, leaving his wife to care for the nine children. The next January she gave birth to their second daughter, Rachel Adelaide. She lived to see all of them married. She died on October 24, 1911.

SECTION II.

GEORGE ALFRED WARD

(3) George Alfred Ward was born April 17, 1862, in North Willard, Utah. He married Mary Ellen Brewerton on December 20, 1881. They had six children. He died September 15, 1898.

George Alfred Ward, was born 17, April 1862 at Willard, Utah, he was the oldest son of William Ward and Rachel Ann Cordon. He was christened 20 April 1862 in Willard by Alfred Cordon and was baptized 5 June 1872. He was the oldest of nine children. He spent his childhood and early manhood in Willard.

When he was 19 years old he married and sealed as husband and wife the 20 December 1881 he married Mary Ellen Brewerton of Willard, Utah. She was the daughter of Thomas William Brewerton and Sarah Ann Crooks.

They made their home in Willard after they were married. Here two sons were born the first William Alfred was born 1 Dec 1882. The second Melvin Maroni was born 29 Aug. 1884. In 1885 they moved to Almo, Idaho and homesteaded on Grape Creek five miles north east of Almo. The next year on 25 July 1886 Henry Edward was born and died the same day. He was buried in the Elba Cemetery at Elba. Elba was seven miles north of Grape Creek.

Their fourth son Orville Welton was born 5 Oct. 1887. The fifth son Asael Edwin was born 12 Oct. 1890, and Irl Bryan was born 26 Aug. 1896. These boys were all born in Almo. George Alfred built a log house and cleared the land and planted crops.

He developed sugar-diabetes. There was no cure or help for this disease at the time.

He and Mary Ellen decided to move back to Willard. They moved back in 1896. They kept the ranch in Almo and the older boys, William and Melvin cared for it. When they reached Willard they moved into the old Grandpa Brewerton place. They lived there until his death on 15 Oct. 1898. His son Orville recalled driving a team and wagon back to Willard loaded with poles to help establish their home there. He was only 11 years old when his father died. He and Asael both remembered how much their father suffered. After his death Mary Ellen built a brick home and moved into it.

In 1905 she moved back to the ranch in Almo where the younger boys cared for the ranch while Melvin went on a mission for the L.D.S. Church. She never remarried. She returned to Willard after Orville and Asael married and cared for the ranch. She was drowned in the Willard flood 13 Aug. 1923.

SECTION III

WILLIAM EDWIN WARD

(3) William Edwin Ward was the second child born to William Ward and Rachel Ann Gordon Ward. He was born September 26, 1863, in North Willard, Utah. He died on October 16, 1863, of Erysipelas.

SECTION IV

EMMA ANN WARD WOODLAND

(3) Emma Ann Ward Woodland was born in Bloomington, Idaho, a daughter of William and Rachel Ann Gordon Ward, March 17, 1865.

The family moved back to Willard when she was a little girl. When she was about five or six years old, she was very ill for weeks. In her father’s diary he tells how very sick she was and how they took turns sitting up nights to watch her. The Elders administered to her daily, and in due time she showed some improvement and gradually gained her strength and seemed well again.

Her father died in September 1876, leaving six children and a daughter born four months after his death.

Her schooling was very limited, as she had to help her mother raise the family. She was the second child, having an older brother Alfred. She did housework, mostly washing on the washboard for families for 50 cents a day. Often when the family had company, their washing was included at the same price.

When she was 18 years old, she married John Thishel Woodland, January 3, 1884, in the old Endowment House, in Salt Lake City. They lived in Willard three years and had two sons. Then moved to Marsh Center, Idaho, where they farmed and raised all kinds of livestock and milk cows. She made butter and each week drove her team and buggy with about 50 pounds of butter five miles to the nearest mercantile store, where she traded for groceries and clothing for her family. Her butter was sold at a premium price, 20 cents per pound, while the regular butter was 15 cents or two pounds for a quarter.

They raised twelve children. In 1914-15 they moved back to South Willard. Their youngest daughter died in April 1915. A son was called in the service June 1918 and was killed in action. Another son passed away in 1923. Two sons served L. D. S. missions; another served in World War Two.

RICHARD WELTON WARD

(3) Richard Welton Ward, the fourth child of William Ward and Rachel Ann Cordon Ward, was born on January 30, 1867, in Willard, Utah. He died on November 16, 1891.

CHAPTER VI.

ORVILLE HENRY WARD

(3) Orville Henry Ward was born July 23, 1868, in Willard, Utah.

His education was obtained in the Willard school, but was interrupted by his having to go to work to help support his widowed mother and family, as his father died when Arville was eight years old. When he was fifteen years old, he went to work on the E. Y. Ranch, which was located near Strevell, Idaho, in a place called the Narrows. This ranch owned and managed thousands of head of cattle. O. H., as he was called, became ranch foreman at the age of 20.

Orville traveled to Willard, at intervals, to visit his mother and family, and his sweetheart Celia Ann Woodland, whom he married on March 12, 1897. He bought his mother's farm in South Willard and became a very good and prosperous farmer. He raised cattle, hogs, chickens, dairy cattle, sugar beets, and all kinds of hay and grain. He took great pride in his horses and always had fancy ones.

He moved to Willard and built a new home on the site of the old home of his father. But he still owned and operated his farm.

During his lifetime he held many important civic positions, such as director of the Weber Central Dairy Association, Director of the Weber-Box Elder Pineview Irrigation Project, Director of the First National Bank in Brigham City, served on the Willard City Council and others. He was field-man for the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, was on the building committee for building the Willard Church House, and was instrumental in making Willard Canyon a water-shed after the flood.

He was always civic-minded and interested in seeing his community grow and prosper. He was a great believer in work and everyone doing his share of it.

There were ten children born to Orville and Celia Ward. He died March 6, 1945.

SECTION VII.

EDWARD ALONZO WARD

(3) Edward Alonzo Ward, the sixth child of William Ward and Rachel Ann Cordon Ward, was born June 5, 1870, in Willard, Utah. He married Elizabeth Williams on July 21, 1891. They had two children. Edward Alonzo Ward died on October 24, 1940.

Edward Alonzo Ward was born 5 June 1870, in Willard, Box Elder Co., Utah. The fifth son of William and Rachel Ann Cordon.

He lived in Willard in his youth and attended what little schooling that was available. As a young man he went to Bruneau, Idaho, to work on a cattle ranch with his brother, Alford. Here he learned to handle horses and cattle and became very good at horse breaking. This was still frontier country and he had many experiences for such a young man.

In the spring of 1890, he and an uncle, Ralph Cordon, took the town herd to the north end of Cache Valley near the present Oxford, Idaho, for summer grazing. It was here that he met Elizabeth Williams. The daughter of Charles and Margret Sant Williams, of Treasureton. They were married 1 January 1891, in Willard. Two children were born to them, Richard Alonzo and Wanda Lapreve. Later this marriage was solemnized in the Logan Temple.

The first few years he worked as a farm worker in Willard and Idaho Falls, Idaho. Hearing that they needed wood cutters and haulers in Montana for the Anaconda mines he took his family there. This was hard work and the winters were severe, so after three years they decided to return to Treasureton, Idaho and take up a homestead.

This was their first real home, a two story log house with a hundred and sixty acres. Farming was his main interest throughout the rest of his life. Together with brother-in-laws Thomas Williams and James W. Southwick they ran a band of sheep for several years.

He was always active in the church, serving as Sunday School Superintendent, teacher in Sunday School and Mutual. He accepted a mission call to the North West in the years 1915 and 1916.

He was about five feet seven inches tall, light brown hair, blue eyes. His shoulders were thick and strong as were his arms. He had a ready smile for all, and was called Dad Ward or Uncle Lon by the young folks.

He died 24 October 1940, at his home after a lingering illness and was buried 27 October 1940 in the Preston Cemetery.

ALBERT TRULOCK WARD

(3) Albert Trulock Ward was born in Willard, Utah, February 6, 1872. His father died when he was six years old. When a young man, he went to Almo, Idaho, horseback to make a living. He returned the next year only staying two years, then back to Almo. He married Maud Spangle August 29, 1893.

In 1904 a typhoid fever epidemic raged unchecked in the small community. Albert worked day and night to nurse the sick. Sometimes two bodies were buried in one day on that little hill called "Cedar Rest."

In 1905 he moved his family in a covered wagon to Twin Falls. He cleared the sagebrush from the land and farmed for many years. He was a life long member of the L. D. S. Church. He served 22 years on the High Council. He worked in the Logan Temple, also the Idaho Falls Temple. For many years he managed the L. D. S. dances.

He lived a long and useful life, working diligently in the church he loved. He passed away at the age of 82 on April 24, 1954 and was buried in Twin Falls, Idaho.

RACHEL ADELAIDE WARD

(3) Rachel Adelaide Ward was the ninth child of William Ward and Rachel Ann Cordon. She was born in Willard on January 29, 1877, four months after her father died. While still a child, she had meningitis and was never very strong after that.

Rachel Adelaide went to Ogden as a young woman to learn dressmaking. Later she did a lot of sewing for others. She lived for awhile with a young schoolteacher named Olla Barker. She often went to the home of Thomas D. Dee, where she made dresses for his daughters. Later she made her home with the Dee's. The Dee girls were always her dear friends, and she spoke of them often.

While living in the Dee home, she attended the Mount Fort Ward and there met a young man who became the only man in her life. His name was William Warren Shaw. They were married in the Salt Lake Temple on September 12, 1906. Their first home was at 1564 Washington Avenue. Later they moved to Canyon Road in Ogden.

William was a bookkeeper, first for the Amalgamated Sugar Company, then for the Union Portland Cement Company. After four lovely girls, a son was born in July 1915. Following a seige of measles, this young child became very ill with influenza and died when he was nineteen months old. These grief-stricken parents sorrowfully mourned the loss of their only son.

After Adelaide’s third child was born, she developed rheumatism and was confined to a chair for awhile. From then on her health was never very good. In spite of rheumatism and later on arthritis, she and her husband did a lot of temple work and went on many long trips together.

Adelaide’s thirst for knowledge never ceased. She read a lot and was very choosy in what she read. The scriptures, good poetry, and choice literature fascinated her. She knew more about history than most people and kept up on all current events.

In February 1946 at the age of 66, William suffered a stroke while in California and died there. Adelaide lived eleven years after that, slipping quietly away September 16, 1957. She was 80 years old. She left four daughters.
